You are making the Smartest Choice when you select an Eckert & Ziegler Flood Source, because you always receive:

ProKem Technology = Better Quality Control – ProKem Technology begins with our proprietary chemistry which results in a unique purification and production process that produces cleaner Cobalt for a more uniform source. This yields superior camera calibration, less variation and, ultimately, better quality control. Every product we manufacture is the best in its class, and no one offers a broader range of products.

Technological innovation – Our patented processes, like our inkjet printing and polymer casting, along with flexible and lightweight designs, put our ingenuity on display every day.

Easy-to-use products – Transparent, light and flexible designs that are easy to handle and position on the camera head, along with superior uniformity...these are just some ways we help every CNMT do their job.

Exceptional customer service – We are a one-stop-shop for ALL your source needs. We are also easy to work with, and develop strong, lasting relationships with our customers.

Environmental safety – Trust Eckert & Ziegler to ensure the safest way for our customers to handle and transport our products, and to set the industry standard for safe disposal of spent sources.

We provide procurement, use, and disposal of the most advanced radiation sources in the world. That's why Eckert & Ziegler is clearly the Smartest Choice!
